CAPT. BROWN TO LECTURE.

The Bazon is informed that Staff Captain Brown, of the Salvation Army, whose headquarters are in Kansas City, will be in Sedalia next Saturday evening when, and on the following evening, he will lecture on the now famous book—General Booth's "In Darkest England." The captain is said to be a fine talker and this will be quite an event in Salvation Army circles.

SHAMROCK.

Hail to the gleam of the shamrock,
Hail to the shoon of its green,
It's like a stray bit of my country
Come over to greet me, I ween.

It tells me of home and my lov'd ones
Far, far o'er the blue of the sea,
'Tis the message of hope that the leal
Send forth to the "land of the free."

Around it what memories cluster,
What scenes in that dear little isle,
Where the people—saints bless and protect 'em—
No tyrant hath pow'r to defile.

Ah! Em nett guards well, and his spirit
Still strong thro' the lapse of the years,
Defies and derides the oppressor
Tho' want marks the way with its tears.

Hail Shamrock! hail emblem of Ireland!
Gleam green on my sight as of yore,
'Tis the heart that responds to thy beauty,
'Tis the soul that does own thee once more.

—KILLARNEY.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

There will probably be no public demonstration next Tuesday by the Irish citizens of Sedalia in commemoration of the anniversary of St. Patrick's Day. This is not because they are disloyal to the memory of the saint, but simply have taken no steps toward a public celebration. Of course, there will be green ribbons plentiful and an observance in a quiet way.

"LIKES THE OLD RELIABLE."

William McFarrich, a well-known and prominent citizen of Dumpville, was in the city yesterday, and renewed his subscription to the WEEKLY BAZOO stating as he did so, that he had been a subscriber since the first WEEKLY BAZOO, twenty-two years ago, was issued. It is thus the BAZOO's friends stand by the "old reliable."

My boy met with a serious accident by pulling a can of boiling water over on himself and scalding his face, hands and arms dreadfully. Having a bottle of Salvation Oil in the house I applied it immediately to the parts scalded, as by directions, and am glad to state that he is now well, and the wounds nicely healed without leaving a scar.

MRS. A. CAMPBELL,
2 Roberts St., Baltimore.

THE STONE ADHERED.

John Holtzen, wife and two children returned from Kansas City last Friday, whither they had gone for the purpose of having a madstone applied to the wounds of the children, who had been bitten by a mad dog in Lake Creek township, this county. The stone adhered to the wounded parts and the physician who applied it, assured the patients that they were cured and need fear no further trouble.

There was a rumor around town yesterday that Jim Johnson had recently been caught stealing corn out of a field in Texas and that a mob had arrested and summarily swung him up, till dead, at the end of a rope. Johnson was well known about Sedalia, where he was engaged in gathering up and stealing old iron. He went to Texas several weeks ago. Corn must be a precious article in the Lone Star state that a man has to be lynched for appropriating it.

BROUGHT BACK FROM CLARKSBURG.

Yesterday morning Constable Ramsey returned from Clarksburg, Monmouth county, having in charge a white man named William Davis, who is charged with stealing a lot of wagon-maker's tools sometime ago from J. W. Christian, of Dresden. Davis was locked up in jail and will have a hearing in Justice Fisher's court tomorrow morning.

A COLORED DIVORCE SUIT.

In Circuit Clerk Fowler's office yesterday, Geo Goodwin filed suit for a divorce from his wife, Mary Goodwin. Goodwin alleges that he is a negro, of African descent, as is also his wife. He further alleges that, sometime after she became his wife, she gave birth to a light-colored child, proving plainly enough that she had been criminally intimate with some white man.

JOSLYN CASE CONTINUED.

The case of George Joslyn, who is charged with deserting his wife, was to have had an airing in Justice Fisher's court yesterday afternoon, and the court room was crowded accordingly, but the defendant was granted a change of venue to Justice Blair's court, and the case set for next Tuesday morning.

HAD A SISTER IN SEDALIA.

The Fayette Banner publishes the following paragraph, which is of local interest: "I see from the Banner of last week that there is somebody talking about native born Missourians, and wants to know who can beat one born in 1817. I can; Mrs. Noah Smith now living near Clark's Chapel in this county, was born within half a mile of that place, March 22nd, 1813, and has always lived within sight of her birthplace. She has a sister, Mrs. Leveridge, living in Sedalia, who was born in this county in 1811."

ARANSAS PASS.

Col. John D. Crawford Does Not Have a Favorable Opinion of the Texas Town.

Col. John D. Crawford, who has just returned from a trip to Aransas Pass, Tex., remarked to a Bazon representative this afternoon that he was not favorably impressed with the place.

"It has been most widely, thoroughly and extravagantly advertised through the papers and otherwise," said Colonel Crawford, "and a stranger on starting for the place would reasonably expect to find a large and flourishing seaport, instead, however Aransas Pass, whose original name was Rockport, is nothing more than a mere village, containing not over fifteen hundred inhabitants. To see the town as laid down on the maps which are sent out into the world, a person would judge it to be as large as Chicago. The real facts in the case cut it down to hardly more than a hamlet."

The land adjacent to the Pass is owned by Chicago, Boston, New York, Kansas City and Denver capitalists, and they are using it for all it is worth. An ordinary business lot is held at $2,000; and lots generally range from $50 to $100 per front foot.

Aransas Pass is situated on Aransas bay and is fifteen miles from deep water. To reach this a railroad will have to be built.

The Pass is also advertised as a great shipping point, when, as a matter of fact, I did not see a single ship coming in or going out during my brief sojourn there.

Capitalists seem to be buying up land speculators in much the same way that Aransas Pass is, and there as at the latter place, a company is building a large and elegant hotel."

DEATH OF MRS. LOUIS JONES.

Mr. John Ritenour, received a telegram from Cassville, Barry county, this morning announcing the death of his only daughter and child, Mrs. Louis F. Jones of that place. Mrs. Jones was raised in this city and as Miss Rosa Ritenour, was well known and loved by a large circle of friends who will regret much to hear of her death. She was married about two years ago and her death resulted from peritonitis, superinduced by child birth. Mrs. Jones' mother was with her when she died, she having gone to Cassville last Wednesday. The remains will probably be interred at Cassville, Mr. Jones being one of the prominent citizens of that place.

SUNDAY THOUGHTS.

—Harsh words are like a two edged sword—they cut both ways.

—If hopes are never resurrected, they are not likely to be blasted.

—Friendship is a fragrant flower that flourishes in the fields of fidelity.

—A good way to make yourself feel good is to do good to some one else.

—Division Superintendent Al Marsh arrived from Kansas City last night.

The present is a golden reality—the past is a remembrance—the future a hope.

—To act manly at all times and under all circumstances is indeed a difficult task.

—Why don't blood freeze in a rascal's veins? Because he has so much heat in him it can't.

—Superintendent S. H. Clark, of the Missouri Pacific, came down from Kansas City last night.

—A person who won't offer an apology is as uncivilized, as a being who won't accept of one.

—Can there be a purer or nobler religion than visiting the widows and orphans in their affliction.

—A person who loves when they know their affections are not reciprocated, is void of good sound sense.

—Reason will make its own way. Ignorance and prejudice are certain to fall in the combat with intelligence.

—Science is the savior that will rescue from the clutches of ignorance the mangled and bleeding heart of man.

—If one hour in church pays the interest on a week of sin, what are you going to do when it comes to paying the principal?

—Young men should treat old gentlemen with the same respect that they would expect other young men to treat their father.

—'Tis true that circumstances alter affairs and frequently change our course, but our brains are more likely to land us where we belong.

—He who destroys superstition does not take from cripples their crutches. He simply cures them to the extent that they don't need crutches.

—The murmur of the brook or the rustle of the corn, is much sweeter to the ear, than to hear the newsboy yelling, "All about the hanging."

—Young men as a general rule attend the same church their best girl does. If they change girls from necessity or otherwise—they also change churches.

—Which is best; "to soar among the glittering air castles of impossibilities, or humbly tread upon the cold and uninviting yet solid bed-rock of stern realities?"

At the portals of death a battle takes place between hope and fear, fear apparently reigns supreme, but hope is victorious and remains the crowned and comforting king of the occasion.

—Life is a long summer day between two eternal nights. At the close, fear frightens hope into a brilliant star and forces her to illuminate the western horizon.—A. H.
